1. From the President

Have you read THE HISTORY OF AUSTRALIAN FILM SOCIETIES yet? If not, I strongly recommend that you obtain a copy and read it thoroughly. As it is 542 pages long and weighs 2.5 Kg, you won't be reading it in one sitting! But for anyone involved in the film society world, it is strongly recommended.

The author is John Turner, who many of you will know from FVFS and ACOFS. He was treasurer of ACOFS from 1974 – 1998, president from 1999-2009 and treasurer again from 2011 – today. John has taken over 15 years to gather the information and produce this all-encompassing book.

I believe that every member of ACOFS owes it to John to see that this book achieves the distribution it deserves. It is certainly recommended that every State Federation and every member film society obtain their own copy. It is a record of our history, good and bad, and is a reminder of what happened in our past, what worked and what did not. We should all be wary of trying to repeat what has not worked in the past. More details about the book in section 8.

It is not too much to ask that every member film society across Australia approach their local library recommending they purchase a copy. It is available from the usual library supply chain James Bennett, at www.bennett.com.au.

The book has an ISBN of 978-0-646-98532-9

Alternately, any State Federation linked to ACOFS, or any member film society can purchase the book directly from John Turner for just $50 (+$15 if posted). See details below, in section 8.

If you are interested in ACOFS developing any new ideas to help film societies, please email me with your suggestions and comments at president@acofs.org.au

Ian Davidson, President ACOFS

2. The ACOFS DVD Agreement

The latest version of the DVD Rights Fact Sheet 3B, with the latest distributor contact details, was uploaded to the ACOFS website on 3 August 2018. See www.acofs.org.au/resources/

The Fact Sheet (Number 3B) lists the phone and email contacts of the DVD distributors who are able to approve the screening rights for your screenings. It is constantly being updated as new information is supplied.

Fact Sheet 3A offers many hints and suggestions for finding the appropriate DVD distributor and rights holders for DVDs in Australia.

Another way to find the Australian distributor is to go to www.IMDb.com and select "more" then "company credits". Then use the ACOFS Fact Sheet 3A for contact details.

3. News From the DVD Distributors

Owing to space constraints this issue contains only the distributors who have titles to list or have some changes in their contact details.

For contact details and websites see ACOFS Fact Sheet 3B on www.acofs.org.au (Updated regularly).

4. New Titles from the NTLC at the NFSA

The NTLC (Non-Theatrical Lending Collection) is part of the NFSA (National Film and Sound Archive) in Canberra. There are 1,682 DVD and BluRay titles, of which 851 are feature films available for loan to film societies at $22 (including rights and delivery to you). See their catalogue at loans.nfsa.gov.au

The following licenced DVD or BluRay titles are listed as having been added in the last 90 days:

24 Wochen
ARCHlab Web Encyclopedia (BR)
Beethoven Tage Aus Einem Leben
Berlin Um Die Eche (BR)
Brother Jakob
Die Somme Das Grab Der Millionen

Die Stadt von Morgen – Experimentierfeld Asien (BR)
Doomed Love: A Journey Through German Genre Films.
Greetings from Fukushima
Kathe Kollowitz Bilder Eines Lebens
Kleiner Qualgeist – Grosse Freundschaft
Mama, I'm Alive
Zur Rettung Der Popkultur – Experimentelle Deutsche Musikvideos 2008-2015 (BR)

Also don't forget that the NTLC may have some older titles which you will not be able to get elsewhere. Even where the original Australian distributor no longer holds current rights, the NTLC may have purchased the screening rights themselves.

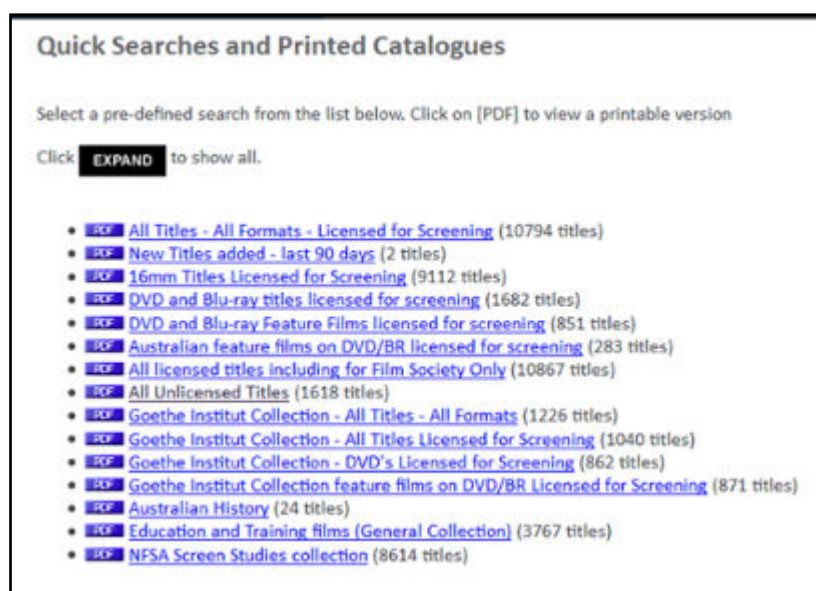

A new arrangement at the NTLC is that they may be able to licence a viewing of your own copy of a DVD where they hold the screening rights to that title in their collection. This means that if a title held by the NTLC is already booked out when you want it, you can use your own copy after paying the NTLC the normal $22 fee for the screening rights for that title.

5. Message from Non-Theatric Loans

Received from John Klyza after the last ACOFS meeting .
Hello all,

You're receiving this as you either expressed interest or requested (in person at ACOFS AGM 2018 or via email) a link to the NFSA Non-Theatrical Lending Collection's PDF Catalogue.

Step 1: Visit <http://loans.nfsa.gov.au/cat/wwmdgr.htx> and you should get the below screen & options:

Step 2: Choose your interest and click on the blue "PDF" icon to the left of it for a printable catalogue listing.

Unfortunately, I spoke too soon as we don't have one master catalogue that contains both licensed and unlicensed titles. However between the first selection All Titles - All Formats - Licensed for Screening and the All Unlicensed Titles list, these 2 PDFs encapsulate our collection.

I will work with our software provider to offer a grouped catalogue option on this page for everything we hold. Plus, we are in discussion on how to offer such a master document as a hard copy catalogue to our clients – hopefully in the next few months.

Kind regards,

John Klyza

7. FILM REVIEW

Jill Bilcock: Dancing the Invisible

Australia, 2017, 78 mins, Doco, M. Directed by Axel Grigor.

This is an unprecedented feature documentary about one of the world's leading film artists – Australian film editor Jill Bilcock. Her work on beloved films such as Strictly Ballroom, Romeo+Juliet, Muriel's Wedding, The Dressmaker, Road To Perdition, Japanese Story, Moulin Rouge!, Red Dog and Elizabeth, has established her as one of the world's most daring and in-demand editors, highly sought after by leading international film directors and top film studios – yet she remains relatively unknown. Interviews include luminary directors Shekhar Kapur, Baz Luhrmann, Fred Schepisi, Jocelyn Moorhouse and Ana Kokkinos together with actor Cate Blanchett. This is combined with rare and previously unseen footage of Jill's process in the editing suite which provides an utterly captivating and unprecedented insight into the artistry of film editing.

Review by Ian Davidson

I found this an entertaining and informative film about a film editor at the top of her game. Not only does this film cover Jill's lifetime in the film scene, from 1962 'till now, it explains, through her own words, her role as a film editor.

In Jill's own words, the role of the film editor is:

- To interpret what the director really wants and make it come alive on the screen.
- To create what the director really wants – or even better – even if he is unsure himself.
- The editor is responsible for connecting with the audience.
- Everything is about rhythm.
- You have to know when to edit, and have to know when you've GOT IT!

A highly recommended film for any film society wanting to know more about the work of this highly regarded film editor. 4 stars (from 5)

“Strongly recommended. 4 stars. David Stratton”

IMDb score 8.1 stars (from 10)

Rights for screening this film using the “ACOFs rights agreement” are available from Film Art Media (info@filmartmedia.com) for $55 (inc GST) under the normal screening conditions by member film societies.

9. BEWARE THE ASIC SCAM

There is currently a scam doing the rounds which purports to be from ASIC – The Australian Securities and Investments Commission. The ASIC's own website currently carries a major warning about this scam, which involves an email purporting to be from ASIC about a renewal letter you need to submit or a fine you must pay.

It's got just the right hint of officialdom and business and tax-related associations to be perfect for tax time.

In a note from ASIC, they state:

For your information, any notice from ASIC will, refer to your company or business name specifically and contain an email address that ends in asic.gov.au (hover over the email links in the body of the email to check).

If the email you received does not contain the features listed above, delete the email immediately without opening any attachments or links.

You can also visit the Australian Competition and Consumer Commission's ScamWatch.

The best advice is to ignore any scam email and delete it immediately.

11. Trivia

Did you know that the Internet Movie Database (IMDb) has a section on the biographies of most film actors as per the following extract:

Sarah Snook is the hottest new actress to emerge from Australia in recent years. She was born and raised in Adelaide, South Australia. Showing promise in performing arts at a young age, Sarah was awarded a scholarship to study drama at Scotch College, Adelaide. After high school, she was accepted in to the prestigious National Institute of Dramatic Arts (NIDA) and graduated in 2008 with a Bachelor of Fine Arts (Acting).

Sarah has worked extensively in film and television in Australia, receiving awards from the Australian Academy for Cinema and Television Arts (AACTA) for Best Actress in a Film (2014, "Predestination") and Best Lead Actress in a Television Drama (2011, "Sisters of War"), the Film Critic's Circle of Australia (FCCA) for Best Actress - Lead Role (2014, "Predestination" & 2012, "Not Suitable for Children"), and the Australian Film Critics Association (AFCA) for Best Actress in a Supporting Role (2015, "These Final Hours"). Not to mention her starring role in the ABC drama "The Secret River", and the movies "Oddball" and "The Dressmaker".

Internationally, Sarah has acted in numerous films, most notably "Steve Jobs" and the forthcoming, "The Glass Castle".

Sarah recently appeared in two Australian productions, "Winchester" and "Sibling Rivalry", and is due in New York later in 2017 to shoot the first season of HBO series, "Succession"
